

End User License Agreement

Notice

A Legal agreement, which is very essential, which is made between two entities, precisely an individual, company, users, organization and the MailsToConvert, reading the Software's and Services. All the related documents and materials are given in written, electronically or online.

Terms and Conditions of EULA

Before you download or install any product or access this website, it is important to read all the user related documents carefully. If you do not agree with any of the conditions, then do not Access, Copy, Edit, Distribute, Download or Purchase the product or access this website.

If you have a software copy without activation key then you can return the product and request refund, but that must be done within 30 days of purchase.

Rights

Also the software display or not which falls with MailsToConvert and exclusively property of MailsToConvert, You are not allows to distribute them to other channels. Purchasing software does not give you right over the product. Also remember that all documents are protected by international law.

Copyright

This software is owned by MailsToConvert and protected by law

Scope of License Issued

Personal License: One license, once user and for once system only.

Multi License: Can be use in multiple systems across geographical locations.

No Liability

Before you proceed with downloading and installation software, remember that MailsToConvert is in no way, liable if you machine is attach by virus or some damage incurs in the process.

By acknowledging when launching the software you are agreeing with the terms of the software.

WARRANTY DISCLAIMER

MailsToConvert does not say the software is error free. MailsToConvert disclaims all the warranties with respect to the software.

Legal Statement

If you have purchase the software, then you are in legal right to use the software, if the data and files belong to you.

Provision

All rights reserve with MailsToConvert